Union Source Is Certain Action Is 'Important Break'

Pittsburgh, June 28 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers has signed an interim agreement which provides a 12½ cent hourly hike for 10,500 employees of Pittsburgh Steel Co.—a basic producer. The agreement was personally negotiated yesterday by Philip Murray, president of the steelworkers. It provides a modified union shop and otherwise substantially follows recommendations made weeks ago by the Wage Stabilization Board in an effort to avoid a strike which now is in the 26th day.

Murray, himself, didn't comment after giving the green light to Pittsburgh Steel to immediately start plans for resumption of production. However, one of his associates—who asked not to be identified—said the agreement "is an important break in the solid front put up by the basic steel industry."

Ready Any Time
John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel who has been a chief industry negotiator during the past few months, said he had no comment on the agreement. When asked if any negotiations are planned soon to end the strike, he said merely: "We are ready to negotiate at any time."

Although no negotiations are planned with U. S. Steel or other companies making up the industry's "Big Six," one of Murray's associates said he expected "more companies to fall in line soon." He said approximately 48,000 of the 650,000 men who struck June 2 now have been covered in interim agreements which have been signed since the strike began. Most of these are in smaller companies.

The WSB recommended a union shop whereby all steelworkers must belong to Murray's union. Pittsburgh steel's contract calls for a modified shop. New employees must join the union but can withdraw between his 20th and 30th day of work.

A Pittsburgh Steel spokesman said 99½ per cent of his company's eligible employees already belong to the union "and therefore it was decided no practical purpose could be achieved by continuing the strike on the union shop issue."

Driver Injured When Army Truck Hits Rail

An Army truck crashed into guard rails along Route 9W near the viaduct at Highland about 12:05 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

The driver, Wesley A. Geib, 21, of the 278 Infantry Division Service Company, Camp Drum, was taken to an Army hospital at West Point by ambulance, and the truck, which was damaged about its front end, was towed away by a West Point wrecker, troopers said.

Geib stated that he was driving north on Route 9W and "blacked out" just prior to the accident, according to the state police report. Full extent of his injuries was not revealed.

Building Surge Causes Shortage of Carpenters

The large number of building projects in this area has resulted in a shortage of construction carpenters, it was reported today by the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, AFL.

Job opportunities for qualified construction carpenters exist in the area at a prevailing hourly wage rate of $2.50, plus various welfare benefits, it was pointed out. Several of the projects offer overtime.

Application for employment may be made at the AFL union office at 48 Main street, Kingston.

Time Lost for Heat To Affect Leave

Albany, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission says that if state workers go home early on hot days the time they lose must be subtracted from their leave allowances.

Several thousand state employees were dismissed early Thursday because of the high temperature and humidity. Many departments made such closings general policy in recent years.

"General closings are not permissible under the attendance rules, unless the time taken by the employees is charged to their leave allowances," the commission said yesterday.

Ulster Is Better Off Than Most of U. S. in Heat Wave

Some Orchard and Poultry Losses Are Reported; Rain Is Forecast for Sunday

Although some local crop damage has been reported and hot moisture-laden air was still fanning the area today, Kingston and Ulster county were better off than most of the nation which was gripped in stifling, steam-bath weather that has caused over 100 deaths in the last three days, 54 in New Jersey alone.

A dropping temperature with cloudiness and occasional rain Sunday and temperatures in the low eighties has been forecast for this area. At 10 a. m. today the temperature at city hall was 76 degrees and the humidity 87 per cent. Wind was northeast with a velocity of approximately 10 miles per hour.

William J. Palmer, Ulster county agricultural agent, said that some local crops in light, sandy soil were "suffering somewhat" from lack of moisture and that apple orchards were reporting "scalds" due to the effect of spray material and sun.

Drop in Eggs, Milk
Palmer said that he had received some reports of poultry losses and that there had been a drop in egg production. He explained that the "birds become so prostrate with heat that they don't consume the food and water they need. . . . Milk production has also taken a drop. The animals just don't feed enough to produce."

The Associated Press reported that more of the blistering crop-threatening weather of the past several days appeared in prospect for the southern half of the country. There was a measure of relief in some northern areas but it might not be for long.

East Still Sweaters
Another blast of hot, humid air for north central areas, which got a brief respite from the oven-like heat. There also was some cooling in the northeastern area but the hot and sticky weather dominated large parts of the eastern half of the country.

Chicago, after getting cooled off Thursday, was in the path of the hot, moist front, with a promise of temperatures in the 90s over the weekend.

Cool breezes also brought relief yesterday to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities along the east coast westward along the southern edge of Pennsylvania. But there was a possibility of a return of more stifling weather in a couple of days.

The steam-bath weather yesterday blanketed the Gulf States, the Central Plains, the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the Middle and South Atlantic States and parts of the lower and middle Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast.

South Has 107 Degrees
Temperatures ranged from the 90s to 107, with record marks for the date in scores of cities in the south. It was 100 or higher in nearly every section of Alabama. Crop damage increased. No rain was expected in the parched state for at least five days.

For most of the southland, temperatures shot up to and above the 100 mark for the third straight day. In Bamberg, S. C., it was 107, marking the fifth consecutive day of readings above 100.

The 103.6 at Wilmington, N. C., was an all-time record and the 105 at Columbia, S. C., was a record for the date. The hot spell was the worst in Virginia in eight years. The state's high yesterday was 107 at Danville.

Atlanta sweltered throughout the night with the mercury at 85 after hitting 100 yesterday. Asphalt paving buckled in some parts of the city.

No Relief in Capital
There was no relief in Washington, D. C., where five persons have died from effects of the wilting heat in the last three days. Some parts of the nation's capital were without power last night because of a cable failure.

Deaths from effects of the heat in other parts of the west sweltered were: New York and Pennsylvania, 11 each; Ohio, 9; Georgia, Maryland, Tennessee, 5 each; Indiana, Massachusetts, 4 each; Alabama, Virginia, West Virginia, 2 each; and Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky and South Carolina, 1 each.

Three Seek GOP Nomination For County Treasurer Post

Taft Says Stand He Can't Win Is Only Straw in Way

Would Cut Europe Aid, Repudiate Yalta Paper; Hit Propaganda

Washington, June 28 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft said today the sole remaining hurdle to his nomination for president by the Republicans is a "mistaken belief" by some delegates that he can't win in November.

The Ohio senator told a news conference he believes he has disposed successfully of every other argument raised against his selection as the party standard bearer at the Chicago convention opening July 7.

"The only thing anybody has got against me is the claim that I can't carry the election and there is no basis for that," he declared. "It is the only effective argument left. There is no other argument."

Taft was at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville yesterday, conferring with the Virginia delegates and making a speech on foreign policy. He made three major points:

1. He believes economic aid to western Europe should now be cut off.

2. The United States should repudiate the Yalta agreement.

3. A policy of "infiltration and propaganda," directed at the satellite Communist nations, should be undertaken immediately by this country.

Had Arduous Day
The speech was the climax of a long and arduous day, in near-record heat, that Taft spent in Virginia. He held his regular morning news conference, then met with the 23-man Virginia delegation in a closed session, addressed the Taft Club at Charlottesville in a luncheon speech and finally spoke to some 5,000 people at the university last night.

A survey of the delegation indicated, however, that his strength in Virginia may be less than he claims. Taft said he counted on 17 of the delegates, but a survey by Associated Press correspondents indicated today (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Major U. S. Gain in Atomic Power Eases Report on Reds

Washington, June 28 (AP)—Hints of major American developments in the field of atomic energy today eased the shock of jolting new estimates of Soviet atomic and air power.

Optimism stemmed from a White House visit of the nation's top atomic experts. One of them, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission's (AEC) General Advisory Committee, said later:

"There have been such great developments in atomic energy we felt we should report on these directly to the President. We wish we could say what was in the report, but we cannot."

The grimmer side of the picture was revealed in screened testimony of top air force and Pentagon leaders before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

St. John Is Only One in Line for DA at County Parley in Auditorium

Roll call of delegates to the unofficial Republican county convention was in process as The Freeman went to press today, and GOP representatives from all sectors of Ulster crowded the municipal auditorium.

Indications were that there would be a three-cornered contest for one office, that of Ulster county treasurer.

A party spokesman speculated that Claude Bell of West Shokan, supervisor of the Town of Olive, held the probable edge as to delegates in his favor.

Others seeking the nomination were Albert N. Cook of Kingston, supervisor of the First ward, and Horace Boice, former supervisor of the Town of Ulster.

Pratt Boice, former county treasurer, was scheduled to nominate Boice, it was said.

Howard C. St. John, a young Kingston lawyer, was the only candidate for district attorney, a pre-convention survey revealed.

Bruhn to Nominate Him
Louis G. Bruhn, who has served two terms in the office, was set to nominate St. John, one of the popular attorneys in the GOP ranks now acting as a commissioner on Civil Service Commission.

Other nominations on the agenda were for coroner, assemblyman and eight delegates, with alternates, to the Third District Judicial convention.

The post of coroner calling for a candidate is held at present by Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson.

John F. Wadlin, Highland attorney, is the assemblyman, who has served several terms in the state legislature.

Convention Speakers
The convention program called for an opening address by Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, county chairman of the party.

John Matthews was to sing the Star Spangled Banner and Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel was slated to give the invocation.

Other speakers were to be Congressman J. Ernest Wharton Ulster county's representative in Washington, and State Senator Orlo M. Brees of Broome county.

Twining said the Russians, while boosting their atomic stockpile, have also developed a powerful long-range bomber capable of delivering atomic weapons against distant targets.

"It is of some significance that a new long-range Soviet bomber of original design was observed over Moscow last summer," he said.

The White House visit yesterday of Dr. Oppenheimer and AEC chairman Gordon Dean touched off widespread speculation over what the "great developments" Dr. Oppenheimer mentioned might be.

Some believed they could mean success in the search for the hydrogen bomb, underway since Jan. 31, 1950. Others said it might be good news about work on the new atomic submarine and atomic air-

Red Attacks Are Stalled By Infantry

Allied Planes Continuing Blasts on Stations in Areas Serving Korea and Manchuria

Losses Are Heavy
Communists Radio Calls Bombings Plan to Break Peace Talks

Seoul, Korea, June 28 (AP)—United Nations infantrymen today threw back three furious assaults by Chinese Reds on the Korean western front. Allied warplanes for the fourth time in a week bombed and strafed hydroelectric plants serving Korea and Manchuria.

Targets of the U. S. Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers Friday were the switchyards and power plants No. 1 and 2 at Changjin (Chosin) Reservoir in northeastern Korea, 60 miles south of the Manchurian border.

It was the second straight day that the Changjin generating station had been hit. They serve Red industry in Manchuria and North Korea.

Are Thrown Back
The fighting on the western front centered on a hill called "Baldy." The reinforced Chinese battalion, about 750 men, charged three times and were thrown back each time.

United Nations and Communist artillery exchanged barrages after the attacks.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said Baldy had little cover because "what little vegetation there was was sawed off by artillery."

"The Chinese were firing everything they had and we were firing all we had on them," Becker said after a visit to a hill west of Chosin.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds lost 50 to 75 killed and 100 to 150 wounded in three charges Friday night and early today.

Chinese Losses Heavy
The action was another in the series of battles which began at "T-Bone" Hill—a few miles to the east. Chinese casualties around T-Bone were more than 3,000 during three weeks of intense fighting.

Allied soldiers Thursday cleaned the hill of enemy positions on the northern slope.

UN pilots reported they destroyed Communist tanks during attacks on enemy positions.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported it lost six planes over North Korea the past week. One U. S. Sabre jet was lost in an aerial battle and five allied planes were shot down by ground fire.

U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down one Communist MIGs Friday, the air force said.

U. S. jet fighter-bombers Saturday pounded a concealed Red motor pool near North Korea's eastern coast with high explosives and flaming gasoline. The Fifth Air Force reported 150 2½-ton trucks, 50 fuel drums and an automatic weapon destroyed and more than 100 Reds killed or wounded.

Naval units bombarded both Korean coasts yesterday.

Blast Against Bombings
Tokyo, June 28 (AP)—The Communist propaganda radio today opened up in full blast against the North Korean hydroelectric bombings this week—after almost completely ignoring the subject for the first five days.

The line taken by the North Korean and Chinese broadcasters is that the big power stations on the Yalu river and at Chosin and Fusan reservoirs were "beautiful and peaceful projects." They also said Secretary of Defense Lovett's statement that the projects were legitimate tactical targets was "an outright lie."

The propaganda attacks began last night, Alan Winington, correspondent in Korea for the Communist London Daily Worker, denounced the bombings as part of an American plan for more military pressure to break the Panmunjom armistice deadlock.

Called Plan to Continue War
But this morning the Pyongyang North Korean radio quoted the Korean Central Telegraph Agency that the bombing was planned "to wreck the negotiations and thereby to extend the Korean war."

Radio Peiping repeated the Korean broadcast in English.

Later today, Peiping quoted what it labeled extracts and commentaries from Red papers and correspondents, calling the raid "the American sneak attack on the Yalu."

The allies charged that for two years the Red power plants have helped run war industry in North Korea and Manchuria, and also may be powering anti-aircraft radar detectors and batteries and shore installations used against the navy.

Union Advises T-H Amendment Now

Lake Placid, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—An AFL union spokesman advises labor to seek amendment, rather than repeal, of the Taft-Hartley law.

"The country needs and should have a labor-management relations act," Richard H. Gray, president of the AFL Building Trades Department, said yesterday.

However, he maintained, the T-H law should be amended to permit what he called a realistic approach to the special problems of the building industry.

Gray addressed about 300 general contractors yesterday at the seventh annual meeting of the Building Industry Employees of New York State.

Liaison Officers Carry Messages; Talks Are Recessed Three Days

Munsan, Korea, June 28 (AP)—United Nations and Communist truce negotiators today exchanged notes through liaison officers. The Reds asked the Communists to verify location of four Red prisoner camps.

The Communists protested the three-day recess in armistice talks called by Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison yesterday to give the Reds an opportunity to reconsider their stand in the deadlocked truce negotiations.

The note authorized by North Korean Gen. Nam is said:

"In disregard of the resolute opposition of our side and the ardent wish of the people of the world for an early armistice in Korea, your side once again unilaterally declared a three day recess and rudely left the conference tent. This shows that your side is deliberately delaying armistice negotiations and prolonging the bloody conflict in Korea."

Demand on Camps
In an earlier meeting of liaison officers requested by the UN command, Harrison demanded the Reds "without further delay" verify location of four prisoner of war camps in North Korea. He said the Communist delay in replying endangers the lives of captured UN soldiers.

Harrison noted that he had asked for the verification twice before.

When the talks recessed yesterday they still were tightly deadlocked over the issue of prisoner exchange.

State Lists Plans For Paltz Library
A $784,000 library building project at the New Paltz State Teachers College was announced today for the 1952-53 fiscal year by Charles H. Foster, business manager of the State University of New York.

The New Paltz project is a part of the program of the state which includes the future construction of new buildings worth about $10,042,500 on six of the state's 33 campuses.

Foster, according to the Associated Press, said Friday that acquisition and planning of a new location for Harpur College, in the town of Vestal, would head the construction list for the year ending next March 31.

No specific amount has been set aside for the Harpur project, the AP report added.

Others seeking the nomination were Albert N. Cook of Kingston, supervisor of the First ward, and Herce Boice, former supervisor of the Town of Ulster.

Praet Boice, former county treasurer, was scheduled to nominate Boice, it was said.

Howard C. St. John, a young Kingston lawyer, was the only candidate for district attorney, a pre-convention survey revealed.

Bruhn to Nominate Him
Louis G. Bruhn, who has served two terms in the office, was set to nominate St. John, one of the popular attorneys in the GOP ranks now acting as a commissioner on Civil Service Commission.

Other nominations on the agenda were for coroner, assemblyman and eight delegates, with alternates, to the Third District Judicial convention.

The post of coroner calling for a candidate is held at present by Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson. John F. Wadlin, Highland attorney, is the assemblyman, who has served several terms in the state legislature.

The convention program called for an opening address by Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, county chairman of the party.

John Matthews was to sing the Star Spangled Banner and Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom of Temple Emanuel was slated to give the invocation.

Other speakers were to be Congressman J. Ernest Wharton Ulster county's representative in Washington, and State Senator Orlo M. Brees of Broome county.

Major U. S. Gain in Atomic Power Eases Report on Reds

Washington, June 28 (AP)—Hints of major American developments in the field of atomic energy today eased the shock of jolting new estimates of Soviet atomic and air power.

Optimism stemmed from a White House visit of the nation's top atomic experts. One of them, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission's (AEC) General Advisory Committee, said later:

"There have been such great developments in atomic energy we felt we should report on these directly to the President. We wish we could say what was in the report, but we cannot."

The grimmer side of the picture was revealed in screened testimony of top air force and Pentagon leaders before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Communists Radio Calls Bombings Plan to Break Peace Talks

Seoul, Korea, June 28 (AP)—United Nations infantrymen today threw back three furious assaults by Chinese Reds on the Korean western front. Allied warplanes for the fourth time in a week bombed and strafed hydroelectric plants serving Korea and Manchuria.

Targets of the U. S. Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers Friday were the switchyards and power plants No. 1 and 2 at Changjin (Chosin) Reservoir in northeastern Korea, 60 miles south of the Manchurian border.

It was the second straight day that the Changjin generating station had been hit. They serve Red industry in Manchuria and North Korea.

Are Thrown Back
The fighting on the western front centered on a hill called "Baldy." The reinforced Chinese battalion, about 750 men, charged three times and were thrown back each time.

United Nations and Communist artillery exchanged barrages after the attacks.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said Baldy had little cover because "what little vegetation there was was sawed off by artillery."

"The Chinese were firing everything they had and we were firing all we had on them," Becker said after a visit to a hill west of Chosin.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds lost 50 to 75 killed and 100 to 150 wounded in three charges Friday night and early today.

Chinese Losses Heavy
The action was another in the series of battles which began at "T-Bone" Hill—a few miles to the east. Chinese casualties around T-Bone were more than 3,000 during three weeks of intense fighting.

Allied soldiers Thursday cleaned the hill of enemy positions on the northern slope.

UN pilots reported they destroyed four Communist tanks during attacks on enemy positions.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported it lost six planes over North Korea the past week. One U. S. Sabre jet was lost in an aerial battle and five allied planes were shot down by ground fire.

U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down one Communist MIGs Friday, the air force said.

U. S. jet fighter-bombers Saturday pounded a concealed Red motor pool near North Korea's eastern coast with high explosives and flaming gasoline. The Fifth Air Force reported 150 2½-ton trucks, 50 fuel drums and an automatic weapon destroyed and more than 100 Reds killed or wounded.

Naval units bombarded both Korean coasts yesterday.

Blast Against Bombings
Tokyo, June 28 (AP)—The Communist propaganda radio today opened up in full blast against the North Korean hydroelectric bombings this week—after almost completely ignoring the subject for the first five days.

The line taken by the North Korean and Chinese broadcasters is that the big power stations on the Yalu river and at Chosin and Fusan reservoirs were "beautiful and peaceful projects." They also said Secretary of Defense Lovett's statement that the projects were legitimate tactical targets was "an outright lie."

The propaganda attacks began lightly last night. Alan Winnington, correspondent in Korea for the Communist London Daily Worker, denounced the bombings as part of an American plan for more military pressure to break the Panmunjom armistice deadlock.

Called Plan to Continue War
But this morning the Pyongyang North Korean radio quoted the Korean Central Telegraph Agency that the bombing was planned "to wreck the negotiations and thereby to extend the Korean war."

Radio Peiping repeated the Korean broadcast in English.

Later today, Peiping quoted what it labeled extracts and commentaries from Red papers and correspondents, calling the raid "the American sneak attack on the Yalu."

The allies charged that for two years the Red power plants have helped run war industry in North Korea and Manchuria, and also may be powering anti-aircraft radar detectors and batteries and shore installations used against the navy.

Union Advises T-H Amendment Now

Lake Placid, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—An AFL union spokesman advises labor to seek amendment, rather than repeal, of the Taft-Hartley law.

"The country needs and should have a labor-management relations act," Richard H. Gray, president of the AFL Building Trades Department, said yesterday.

However, he maintained, the T-H law should be amended to permit what he called a realistic approach to the special problems of the building industry.

Gray addressed about 300 general contractors yesterday at the seventh annual meeting of the Building Industry Employees of New York State.

West Allies Protest Reds' Treatment in East Berlin

Berlin, June 28 (AP)—The western allies today protested to the Russians that "inhumane" shackles have been put on the people of Berlin by east zone Communists.

In identical notes, the three western commandants demanded the Russians either tell their puppet east zone authorities to stop restricting the free movement of Berliners or arrange compensation for the thousands of innocent people suffering "untold distress."

West Berlin authorities said 16,000 West Berliners with property in the east zone have registered in a city council survey of those affected by the restrictions.

The notes were delivered as East German Communists stepped up their assault on the nerves of West Berliners to mark the visit of U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson to the Soviet-surrounded city.

Acheson's morale-building visit is ostensibly to lay the cornerstone of the American Memorial Library in Berlin. But his presence in the city at this tense period is physical reaffirmation of western determination to stand by the beleaguered former capital, which now lies deep in Soviet-occupied territory.

Acheson comes from London where he met with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman to frame a western note conditionally agreeing to a four power conference on Germany. Whooping up an anti-Acheson campaign, the Communist News-paper Neues Deutschland called for "big actions to get rid of the American warmongers." In an editorial, the paper said undermining of "peaceful (Communist) (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Compromise Action Is Taken by Senate and House Group Facing Expiration

Race Against Time

Senate Set to Act Today, House Takes Up Its Course Monday

Washington, June 28 (AP)—A 10-month extension of wage-price controls, due to expire Monday, was voted by a Senate-House conference committee early today in a marathon race against time.

The compromise, hammered out of divergent bills passed by the Senate and House, was whisked to the Senate's special Saturday session for action. House consideration is scheduled Monday.

Senate-House conferees met yesterday, last night and into today's pre-dawn hours. All in all, the results were accounted an administrative victory after the beating the bill took in the House.

The committee abandoned a House provision by Rep. Talle (R-Iowa) which would have snipped controls from commodities not rationed or allocated. Nothing is rationed now. Only a few scarce metals are allocated.

Restates Law
It also watered down another House provision, by Rep. Cole (R-Kan.), which would have guaranteed sellers' price markups based on individual, instead of industry-wide, profit margins before the Korean war erupted. The diluted version amounts to a restatement of existing law.

An administration setback, however, was the committee's decision to retain a provision which would exempt processed fruits and vegetables from price control.

All three had been roundly scored by administration forces.

Price officials said about 11 per cent of the housewife's food money goes for processed fruits and vegetables—frozen and otherwise—and knocking off controls of these would boost the grocery bill.

The compromise bill would all but scrap credit controls and would end rental curbs Sept. 30 except where localities vote to continue them until April 30, 1953. Real estate credit checks would also end—but with a proviso.

This qualification has to do with the Federal Reserve Board's regulation "X," the rule setting specific down-payment and installment minimums on new housing. Under the compromise, regulation "X" would be lifted as long as the annual rate of housing starts was below 1,200,000—about 100,000 more than now.

Depends on Wages
Instead of the House provision to snip controls from commodities not rationed or allocated, the conference committee adopted a Senate-passed statement of policy. This favors ending wage-price checks within the controls law "as rapidly as possible." In the meantime, it says, ceilings would be lifted wherever wage and price pressures ease.

Kept in the bill were Senate and House requests to President (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

State Lists Plans For Paltz Library

A $784,000 library building project at the New Paltz State Teachers College was announced today for the 1952-53 fiscal year by Charles H. Foster, business manager of the State University of New York.

The New Paltz project is a part of the program of the state which includes the future construction of new buildings worth about $10,042,500 on six of the state's 33 campuses.

Foster, according to the Associated Press, said Friday that acquisition and planning of a new location for Harpur College, in the town of Vestal, would head the construction list for the year ending next March 31.

No specific amount has been set aside for the Harpur project, the AP report added.

Your Life and Mine

by CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

HOBSON'S CHOICE

Life is always confronting us with two kinds of situations. There is the type of situation where the alternatives swarm about us like bees around a hive, and it is up to us to decide which course to pursue. Such a decision, especially if the choice is a critical one, is never easy. Then there is the other kind of a situation where the choices are narrowed down to one, like which pork chop you take when there is only one left on the platter?

"Where to elect there is but one, 'Tis Hobson's choice,"—take that or none." I was brought up on that phrase—"Hobson's choice"—but I never knew until recently how it originated. Tobias Hobson was the first man in England to let-out hackney-horses. He lived in Cambridge, and observing that the scholars rode "hard," he kept a large stable of horses, with boot, bridles, and whips. When a man came for a horse, he was led into the stable, where there was great choice, but he obliged him to take the horse which stood next to the stable-door; so that every customer was alike well served according to his chance, and every horse ridden with the same justice. From whence it became a proverb, when what ought to be your election was forced upon you, to say "Hobson's choice."

There are circumstances where life plays the part of Hobson and makes the choice for us. We must not, however, make the mistake of assuming that when the choice is all to our disadvantage. Someone has said that the making of decisions is the hardest work in all the world. If that be true, and I am sure it is, then at least when we are confronted with Hobson's choice we are saved from the taxing ordeal of making a choice.

Longer low the moral is no longer low, when what ought to be your election was forced upon you, to say "Hobson's choice."

Whenever we face the kind of a situation like the lonely pork chop suggests there is but one noble thing to do—buckle down and make the most of it. And it is miraculous, sometimes, what we can make out of life's inescapables.

Your Life and Mine

by CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

HOBSON'S CHOICE

Life is always confronting us with two kinds of situations. There is the type of situation where the alternatives swarm about us like bees around a hive, and it is up to us to decide which course to pursue. Such a decision, especially if the choice is a critical one, is never easy. Then there is the other kind of a situation where the choices are narrowed down to one, like: which pork chop will you take when there is only one left on the platter?

"Where to elect there is but one," "Hobson's choice,"—take that or none. I was brought up on that phrase—"Hobson's choice"—but I never knew until recently how it originated. Tobias Hobson was the first man in England to let-out hackney-horses. He lived in Cambridge, and observing that the scholars rode "hard," he kept a large stable of horses, with boots, bridles, and whips. When a man came for a horse, he was led into the stable, where there was great choice, but he obliged him to take the horse which stood next to the stable-door; so that every customer was alike well served according to his chance, and every horse ridden with the same justice. From whence it became a proverb, when what ought to be your election was forced upon you, to say, "Hobson's choice."

There are circumstances where life plays the part of Hobson and makes the choice for us. We must not, however, make the mistake of assuming that when that happens it is all to our disadvantage. Someone has said that the making of decisions is the hardest work in all the world. If that be true, and I am sure it is, then at least when we are confronted with Hobson's choice we are saved from the taxing ordeal of making a choice.

Just to recognize that some task must be done or some burden borne somehow gives us more than half the strength and courage to do or bear. At least then we quit wasting our energies on attempted evasions and buckle down to give it our best. A year or so ago an editorial in "The Columbia Daily Spectator" explained the ability of students to keep a clear head and a firm purpose in these words:

"The hardest part about an unpleasant task is to convince one's self that it must be done—that there is no way around it. Once this is accepted, the morale is no longer low, the doubts, jitters, fears and hesitations will fall away, and in their place will be a sort of grim serenity that comes with the understanding that the future is the most precious thing to protect in the world."

Whenever we face the kind of a situation like the lonely pork chop suggests there is but one noble thing to do—buckle down and make the most of it. And it is miraculous, sometimes, what we can make out of life's inescapables.

Where to Put Doors Is Vital In Home Plan

In the designing of small homes, the location and number of doors are important, since the arc of the swing is wasted area.

Where there are too many doors, the owner is likely to be confronted with a serious problem of furniture arrangement. It should also be remembered that the more doors a room contains, the more through traffic it will have.

Wherever possible, doors should be located in corners so they will swing through an arc of only 90 degrees and thus use a minimum of floor area.

The location of doors in a small house is even more important when living space must be used also as a passageway, according to officials of the Federal Housing Administration. For convenient passage, space must be preserved free from furniture.

When doors leading to rooms between which there is frequent communication are placed diagonally opposite, the location of furniture for greatest use and convenience is made difficult or impossible. The livability of the house is then greatly reduced.

This may be avoided at the time the house is planned by locating doors in adjacent walls and as near the corners as possible, or an arrangement of doors which permits use of one end of the room for circulation purposes.

Vertical Blinds Win Favor for Decoration

An innovation in window treatment—the vertical blind—is winning enthusiastic acceptance from interior decorators and home-makers.

Made of bands of plastic-coated, selenese multi-cord, four inches wide, the bands open and close the same way as the slats in a Venetian blind except that they run vertically instead of horizontally. They are controlled with a special rod at the side which permits them to be opened to any wanted degree or closed completely.

Shown in 25 colors that may be combined to achieve any desired effect, these blinds are wonderfully versatile and decorative. They may also be effectively used as a room divider as they come in any wanted width, and in any length up to 12 feet.

In addition to their decorative and functional value, these new blinds are also very practical, as the plastic coating makes them extremely resistant to dirt and dust, and when laundering is necessary, they can be removed, washed, and hung back on the windows in 20 minutes.

Old Slipcovers Instead of throwing old slipcovers out, why not make shoe bags, dressing table covers or laundry bags out of them. Sometimes a good dye job can make them so attractive, you put them back on the furniture.

Sooty Concrete Soot can be removed from concrete with a solution of ½ pound of trisodium phosphate to one gallon of water. Wet the concrete down with fresh water and then scrub with the trisodium solution. When the soot is gone, rinse the area with plenty of clean water.

Dwarf Fruits Popular Dwarf fruits are prized for blossoms and decorative effects, as well as for their family-size crops.

Ample Room and Closet Space All On One Floor

Rooms Seven

Closets Ten

Bedrooms Three

Cubage: House 24,000 ft.

Garage 3,800 ft.

Dimensions 64' x 37'

Open archways lead from the entry hall to the living room, on the left and the den or bedroom, on the right. There is a large closet conveniently located in the back wall of the entry hall.

Measuring 18' x 13'4", the living room has a large picture window in its front wall. Flanked by casement windows, this picture window does not extend the full length of the wall, yet it provides added decorative appeal for both the inside and outside of the house. It also serves the practical function of providing welcome extra light for the living room.

Centered in the left wall of the room, the large fireplace has windows on both sides. The long unbroken back living room wall will easily accommodate large furniture pieces. At the end of the right wall is a doorway opening on the hallway that connects with the dining room, the bathroom and bedrooms.

Closet Space An all-purpose closet opens on this central hallway, just to the right of the doorway from the living room. Across the hallway is the door to the 7'x6' x 11'4" dining room. You'll find the extra large closet in the left wall of the dining room, very handy for a variety of storage purposes. If you want to use part of this extra closet as a storage place for clean table linen you can use the built-in china closet for china and glassware exclusively.

One large window in the back wall provides sufficient light and ventilation for the dining room. Near the long right wall would make a good location for your dining room set.

Opening directly off the dining room, the kitchen is strictly a work center. Working counters, complete with cupboards and cabinets, are arranged along the left and back walls of the room. There are extra working counters located against the front wall between the stove and the large broom closet. The refrigerator is directly next to the stove; the sink is under the double windows centered in the back wall of the room.

As there is no breakfast nook in this 13'x8' kitchen the adjoining dining room will be used for all meals.

In the left kitchen wall, the door leads to the 10' x 7' laundry utility room. Doors lead from this room to the back porch and to the front yard. Two windows in the front wall provide generous lighting and good ventilation.

Stairs to the cellar lead down from the utility room.

The back porch, which can be screened or glassed in or left open, as you prefer, is 10' x 8' in dimensions. This porch provides protected access to the garage, and other precious nooks, opens on the central hallway just before the door to the right front bedroom.

Measuring 12' x 11'4", the front bedroom also enjoys the benefits of good lighting and cross ventilation. It has a window in the right wall and another in the front wall. There is one large closet in this bedroom.

One window in the front wall provides ample light and ventilation for the bedroom or den. This room, which is 12'x11' in measurements, has a large closet in its left wall.

One window provides ample light and ventilation for the 20' x 11' garage. You'll find ample area in this garage for storing screens, storm windows and doors, and garden tools.

There is both a tub and a shower in the all-modern bathroom which has one window in its back wall. The large closet, opening on the connecting hallway, just to the right of the bathroom door, can be used for linen storage. It is conveniently near to the bedrooms and bath and is large enough to hold a supply of fresh bed linen and towels.

Largest of the three bedrooms in "The Belnap," the back bedroom is 13' x 11'4"; can serve as the master bedroom. One window in the back wall and another in the right insure good cross ventilation and light for this bedroom. The large closet in the left wall and another large closet in the front wall guarantee plenty of storage space for the occupants of this bedroom.

They are controlled with a special rod at the side which permits them to be opened to any wanted degree or closed completely.

Shown in 25 colors that may be combined to achieve any desired effect, these blinds are wonderfully versatile and decorative. They may also be effectively used as a room divider as they come in any wanted width and in any length up to 12 feet.

In addition to their decorative and functional value, these new blinds are also very practical, as the plastic coating makes them extremely resistant to dirt and dust, and when laundering is necessary, they can be removed, washed, and hung back on the windows in 20 minutes.

Old Slipcovers

Instead of throwing old slipcovers out, why not make shoe bags, dressing table covers or laundry bags out of them. Sometimes a good dye job can make them so attractive, you put them back on the furniture.

Sooty Concrete

Soot can be removed from concrete with a solution of 1 1/2 pound of trisodium phosphate to one gallon of water. Wet the concrete down with fresh water and then scrub with the trisodium solution. When the soot is gone, rinse the area with plenty of clean water.

Dwarf Fruits Popular

Dwarf fruits are prized for blossoms and decorative effects, as well as for their family-size crops.

Ample Room and Closet Space All On One Floor

Cubage:
House 24,000 ft.
Garage 3,800 ft.

Dimensions 64' x 37'
Open archways lead from the entry hall to the living room, on the left and the den or bedroom, on the right. There is a large closet conveniently located in the back wall of the entry hall.

Measuring 18' x 13'-4", the living room has a large picture window in its front wall. Flanked by casement windows, this picture window does not extend the full length of the wall, yet it provides added decorative appeal for both the inside and outside of the house. It also serves the practical function of providing welcome extra light for the living room.

Centered in the left wall of the room, the large fireplace has windows on both sides. The long unbroken back living room wall will easily accommodate large furniture pieces. At the end of the right wall is a doorway opening on the hallway that connects with the dining room, the bathroom and bedrooms.

Closet Space

An all-purpose closet opens on this central hallway, just to the right of the doorway from the living room. Across the hallway is the door to the 7'-6" x 11'-4" dining room. You'll find the extra large closet in the left wall of the dining room, very handy for a variety of storage purposes. If you want to use part of this extra closet as a storage place for clean table linen you can use the built-in china closet for china and glassware exclusively.

One large window in the back wall provides sufficient light and ventilation for the dining room. Near the long right wall would make a good location for your dining room set.

Opening directly off the dining room, the kitchen is strictly a work center. Working counters, complete with cupboards and cabinets, are arranged along the left and back walls of the room. There are extra working counters located against the front wall between the stove and the large broom closet. The refrigerator is directly next to the stove; the sink is under the double windows centered in the back wall of the room.

As there is no breakfast nook in this 13'-8" kitchen the adjoining dining room will be used for all meals.

In the left kitchen wall, the door leads to the 10' x 7' laundry utility room. Doors lead from this room to the back porch and to the front yard. Two windows in the front wall provide generous lighting and good ventilation.

One window in the front wall provides ample light and ventilation for the bedroom or den. This room, which is 12' x 11' in measurements, has a large closet in its left wall.

One window provides ample light and ventilation for the 20' x 11' garage. You'll find ample area in this garage for storing screens, storm windows and doors, and garden tools.

There is both a tub and a shower in the all-modern bathroom which has one window in its back wall. The large closet, opening on the connecting hallway, just to the right of the bathroom door, can be used for linen storage. It is conveniently near to the bedrooms and bath and is large enough to hold a supply of fresh bed linen and towels.

SCHUMAN PLAN IS A REALITY

The heralded Schuman plan, aimed at merging the coal and steel resources of Western Europe, is a reality at last. This is the first solid, down-to-earth step toward the economic unification of the continent. As such, its importance is immense.

There is, of course, much still to be done before this program begins to work. But with ratification by the parliaments of all six participating countries, the last major political obstacle has been cleared.

Soon the foreign ministers of the six nations will meet to set up an organization and operating machinery. Then will come the grubby task of spelling out the plan in working detail—no easy chore for countries so diverse in make-up as France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

But the will and the spirit that have brought the Schuman plan this far presumably can carry it over the practical hurdles that lie ahead.

The program is a milestone in Europe's affairs because it is a frank recognition by the peoples of Western Europe that their economies are closely entwined and will probably work more effectively if actually integrated.

The Schuman plan is an admission that the artificiality of political borders in a continent so narrowly circumscribed geographically can only do harm to the living standards and security of the peoples affected.

Rare courage and far-sightedness were required of Western Europe's statesmen to push the plan to final adoption. They had to buck not only the inertia of centuries that has kept Europe divided, but the active sabotage of the Communist world.

No one pretends that this plan originated, however, through the wholly noble motives of European statesmen. French Foreign Minister Schuman, publicly credited as the program's author, had his own country's interest very much at heart when he proposed the merger.

France recognized that Germany's industrial might was reviving. It realized that unless some kind of curb was placed upon this power, the day might come once more when it would be unleashed against the French.

Hence the plan was offered not basically from altruistic motives but from France's selfish wish to protect itself. An integrated coal and steel industry under international control obviously could not be used to feed a German war machine.

The same motives underlie France's espousal of the six-nation European defense army. Fearing the rebirth of a German army, the French proposed an integrated force which would place German armed units under international safeguards.

But, actually, do these selfish motives tarnish the achievement of industrial and military unity? They do not. It is the goal that is important, not the motive that led to its attainment. Do we ask the philanthropist why he gives his millions?

With the approval of the Schuman plan, Western Europe has broken the mold of long centuries and is moving toward a unity that promises high reward.

ONE MORE CANDIDATE

Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia is getting company as a Southern presidential candidate. Besides Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who has been in the field for some time, he must now face the new favorite son proposed by Arkansas, Senator J. William Fulbright.

Though Fulbright has been a senator only since 1945, he has made quite a name for himself as a Southern liberal, especially interested in forms of international cooperation. He had two unusual experiences before entering politics, having been a Rhodes scholar and also a university president. He headed the University of Arkansas for four years.

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE QUESTION OF THE ELBE

The Taft people have naturally made an issue of the withdrawal of the American troops from the Elbe, thus giving Berlin to the Russians. It is good political propaganda against an opponent on his record. It is not unlike the attack on Taft for his authorship of the Taft-Hartley Act, which is his record. General Eisenhower had stated that what occurred there was due entirely to his judgment and decision and that it would have cost 10,000 American lives to take Berlin, which he would not do because the mothers of the 10,000 would have objected.

Should General Eisenhower be nominated by the Republicans, the Democrats will naturally raise this issue, as the Taft people are doing now. Their advantage will be possession of the Pentagon files, which ought not to be used for political advantage but which could be if President Truman so desired.

I wanted to get this story from an eye-witness, from one who was with the troops at the time, and I turned naturally to a reporter. It is true that Paul Manning is a Taft partisan; yet he was a war correspondent for the Mutual network and was with General George S. Patton, Jr. from Normandy to Metz, writing and broadcasting battlefield reports. He is probably the only correspondent who reported both the German and Japanese surrender ceremonies from Rheims and Tokyo. He has been cited for outstanding work by military officials.

So I asked him to give me what he saw, and while his statement is too long for the space allotted this column, I shall give as much as I can:

Let's look at the situation as it really existed on the field of battle in that month of 1945 when our troops were moving so swiftly toward Berlin. I was there and this is what I saw. German resistance had crumbled. The Second Armored Division, spearhead of the American advance on Berlin, was moving at the phenomenal rate of 40 miles a day. German soldiers in division strength were surrendering. Indeed the rate of surrender was so great that German units marched in formation under their own officers back through American lines seeking prisoner of war stockades to lay down their equipment. Upon reaching the Elbe, engineers of the Second Armored Division promptly began laying pontoon bridges while soldiers and officers impatiently waited to resume the advance. One German 88 millimeter gun battery and a handful of enemy soldiers barred the crossing and within minutes after our own heavy guns were brought into position, this resistance was silenced.

"The point of crossing was to be in the area of Magdeburg, a fine ancient city long ago reduced to rubble, a city of empty barracks and hungry people who welcomed the American entry because it meant an end to war. As American officers marshaled their forces for the crossing of the Elbe, the order suddenly came from General Eisenhower's headquarters, hundreds of miles to the rear in Rheims, France, that the forward sweep was to stop.

"The disappointment was immense. Upon receipt of General Eisenhower's historic order, the whole vast machine ground to a halt never to recover its momentum or clear the reconnaissance strength advanced short distances across the Elbe in an attempt to make contact with the Russians but failed. American officers then took to broadcasting over mobile transmitters pleading for a reply from Soviet commanders as to the position of Soviet troops. Although they used a code which Eisenhower had personally arranged with Marshal Zhukov in the event of such a meeting of armies, these messages were ignored for seven days by the Russians until they had surrounded Berlin and were assured they would be first into the German capital.

"The German garrison in Berlin, fighting the bitter defense of German history against the Slavic hordes of Asiatic Russia, sent repeated messages by emissaries to the Elbe promising immediate surrender to the American forces, if only we would move to the gates of Berlin and make such surrender possible."

This is an eye-witness account and if it is incorrect, this column is available for a contradictory eye-witness account.

Naturally this statement does not deal with the decisions at Teheran and Yalta. It seemed to me remarkable that the general should have assumed full personal responsibility for matters which were discussed at these conferences.

That Body of Yours

POINTS ABOUT APPENDICITIS

I write from time to time about the great help given the physician if the patient with pain in abdomen takes no pain-relieving drug until the physician arrives, thus the doctor can more readily determine when and where the pain started, and if it has remained in the one spot or has moved around.

The description of the pain by the patient enables the physician to make a correct diagnosis of the ailment or disease present. Thus, if patient puts a finger on a spot, the pain is usually due to stomach ulcer; if whole hand is placed across the region of the stomach, the pain is more likely due to some liver or gall-bladder ailment.

In Post-Graduate Medicine, Dr. Philip E. Thorek, Department of Surgery, University of Illinois, Cook County Graduate School of Medicine, illustrates his article on "Acute Abdominal Emergencies" with a picture of a patient placing his hand across the middle part of his abdomen, in reply to the physician's question, "Where was your pain when it first started?" The second illustration shows the patient with the end of his finger on a spot in the region of the appendix, about two-thirds of the way down between the umbilicus and the tip of the hip bone, indicating the present painful area. This moving of the pain from region of the umbilicus to the region of the appendix is good evidence of appendicitis. There are some other signs or symptoms of appendicitis mentioned by Dr. Thorek. "It is unfortunate that loss of appetite (anorexia) has not been stressed as the most common symptom present with acute appendicitis. I hesitate to diagnose acute appendicitis in any patient who states he is hungry. Lack of appetite, nausea and vomiting are three degrees of one symptom, being dependent upon the amount of distention or enlargement of the appendix."

It may be worth while for us to remember how Philadelphia reduced greatly the number of deaths from appendicitis by campaigning against the patient receiving a purgative or food of any kind during an attack of appendicitis.

With the above simple points in mind, the patient's chances of recovery in appendicitis is almost 99 per cent.

presidential lightning to hit in his direction. Arkansas serves notice, however, that the widely advertised intention of the Russell backers to use the large block of Southern delegates for trading purposes need not count on Arkansas, which will go its own way.

Meanwhile it becomes more and more likely that the Democratic nomination will not be made on the first ballot.

Granted Joint Trial

New York, June 28 (AP)—Showman Billy Rose has been granted a joint trial of his suit for divorce from former Olympic swimming star Eleanor Holm, and her suit for separation from him. State Supreme Court Justice Aron Stearns yesterday set the trial for Sept. 10. He ruled: "It is patent that no matter how meritorious the separation action may be, the divorce action, if successful, will render it nugatory (worthless)." Adultery is the only grounds for divorce in New York state. The judge also granted Rose the right to serve an amended complaint listing additional adulteries he attributes to his estranged wife. She denies the allegations.

He Was Chilled Yesterday

New York, June 28 (AP)—The only person in the city who didn't feel the heat yesterday was 33-year-old Benjamin Neuman of Mount Vernon — and he complained he was "chilled to the bone." Policy believed him after hauling him out of the refrigerator compartment of his dairy truck. Neuman accidentally had locked himself in. New York's high yesterday was 88 degrees.

Small Industry Less Safe

New York (AP)—Industrial accidents cost the nation $2,600,000 a year and most occur in small manufacturing plants with 100 or fewer workers, reports the National Association of Mutual Casualty Companies. Wawarsing Over Top
In Palsy Campaign

The town of Wawarsing has gone over the top in the Cerebral Palsy campaign for funds, it was disclosed following a meeting of workers Tuesday evening in the library of the city laboratory.

Richard M. Kalish, county chairman presided. Reports were received from township chairmen, but most of them are still incomplete. Henry Shapiro reporting for Major Thomas J. Hanlon, Wawarsing chairman, announced an approximate total of $1,475 for that town. Gratitude was expressed to the residents whose generosity made this total possible. Mrs. Shapiro attributed this success to the fact that such a large percentage of the funds collected, remain in the county for work in the Palsy clinic.

Plans Educational Program
All phases of the fund raising campaign were discussed by Lawrence J. Fowler, city chairman, who has planned an extensive educational program concerning cerebral palsy and the need for contributions to carry on this important work.

The clinic is located in the city laboratory opposite city hall and the public is cordially invited to visit and inspect the facilities at any time and to see the workers and therapists in actual operation.

Benefits Local Cases
The small percentage of money which does not stay in the county still benefits all local cases, it was learned, as this sum is used for clinical study and continued research. Because of this, the chairmen have urged those who have not yet done so, to contribute to the Cerebral Palsy drive.

Banks and wishing wells distributed throughout the county will not be collected until Sunday, July 6, to enable week-end holiday tourists to contribute. Residents have been asked to make contributions, regardless of the amount, and cooperate with the Cerebral Palsy workers.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fremont, who make their home in Buenos Aires, take a trip to their native United States they always find time to visit New York's celebrated Regency Club.

The Fremonts were pioneers in introducing Canasta to the United States, largely because they knew so many card enthusiasts in both countries, and the Regency Club is widely recognized as the high temple of Canasta in this country.

As it happens, the Fremonts are both first-class bridge players, and they played more bridge than Canasta at the Regency Club. The hand shown today was played in a recent duplicate by Mr. Fremont, partnered with Wingate Bixby, president of the club.

Mr. Bixby, who held the North hand, is one of the few men I know who can look at cards like that without turning slightly green.

He avoided the temptation to keep bidding no-trump (many players went down at three no-trump against the natural spade

Wawarsing Over Top
In Palsy Campaign

The town of Wawarsing has gone over the top in the Cerebral Palsy campaign for funds, it was disclosed following a meeting of workers Tuesday evening in the library of the city laboratory.

Richard M. Kalish, county chairman presided. Reports were received from township chairmen, but most of them are still incomplete. Henry Shapiro reporting for Major Thomas J. Hanlon, Wawarsing chairman, announced an approximate total of $1,475 for that town. Gratitude was expressed to the residents whose generosity made this total possible. Mrs. Shapiro attributed this success to the fact that such a large percentage of the funds collected, remain in the county for work in the Palsy clinic.

Plans Educational Program
All phases of the fund raising campaign were discussed by Lawrence J. Fowler, city chairman, who has planned an extensive educational program concerning cerebral palsy and the need for contributions to carry on this important work.

The clinic is located in the city laboratory opposite city hall and the public is cordially invited to visit and inspect the facilities at any time and to see the workers and therapists in actual operation.

Benefits Local Cases
The small percentage of money which does not stay in the county still benefits all local cases, it was learned, as this sum is used for clinical study and continued research. Because of this, the chairmen have urged those who have not yet done so, to contribute to the Cerebral Palsy drive. Banks and wishing wells distributed throughout the county will not be collected until Sunday, July 6, to enable week-end holiday tourists to contribute. Residents have been asked to make contributions, regardless of the amount, and cooperate with the Cerebral Palsy workers.

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEYou Can't Lose
With This Play

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fremont, who make their home in Buenos Aires, take a trip to their native United States they always find time to visit New York's celebrated Regency Club.

The Fremonts were pioneers in introducing Canasta to the United States, largely because they knew so many card enthusiasts in both countries, and the Regency Club is widely recognized as the high temple of Canasta in this country.

As it happens, the Fremonts are both first-class bridge players, and they played more bridge than Canasta at the Regency Club. The hand shown today was played in a recent duplicate by Mr. Fremont, partnered with Wingate Bixby, president of the club.

Mr. Bixby, who held the North hand, is one of the few men I know who can look at cards like that without turning slightly green.

He avoided the temptation to keep bidding no-trump (many players went down at three no-trump against the natural spade lead from the East hand) and steered Mr. Fremont into the far superior game at diamonds.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit. South ruffing. Mr. Fremont drew trumps with the ace and jack, ruffed dummy's last spade, and then cashed three top hearts. East's spade discard on the third heart was somewhat chilling.

How does declarer avoid the loss of two club tricks? Mr. Fremont found the way by leading the ten of hearts from his hand and discarding a club from the dummy.

West won with the jack of hearts and had to find a return. If he led a spade, dummy would discard another club while South ruffed. If West returned a club instead of a spade, South would get a free finesse. Either way, South had the rest of the tricks.

The curious feature is that this play cannot lose even if the club finesse happens to be onside. For example, even if declarer ruffs the last heart in dummy and manages to succeed with a club finesse, he will still have to lose a club trick.

The actual play gave the opponents a heart trick instead of that even trick. And it assured the club finesse by throwing West into the lead.

He said the secretary emphasized that Britain had no absolute right to be consulted or informed in advance of the bombings of the plants across the Yalu river from Manchuria.

Dodgers Tounce Giants, 14-5 For Third Little League Win

Satchel Paige gained fame with his "hesitation" pitch. Now it's Don Marrero of the Washington Senators with his "manana" pitch. When Marrero delivers it appears that the ball will reach the plate manana or even the day after tomorrow. But when the ball does arrive it does funny things, shooting down, up or away from the astonished batter.

Last night he worked with eight days rest and came through with a 5-3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in Fenway Park.

Marrero, who gets by with a slider, curve and knuckleball, limited the Red Sox to six hits while his mates collected nine off former teammate Sid Hudson and Ray Scarborough. But when the home run and Pete Runnels with a pair of triples led the Washington attack, Billy Goodman homered for Boston. The victory was Marrero's seventh compared to two defeats.

Williams and Reilly Lead Batting Attack

It doesn't happen like that in the National League but that's the Little League they're playing at the 156th Field Artillery diamond on Manor avenue.

In a manner that will cause Sal Maglie and Leo Durocher great concern if they hear about it, the Giants took a 14-5 shellacking from guess who in yesterday's Little League battle, Yester, the Dodgers.

The Giant pitchers—Timmy Fisher and John Melchior—held mighty Hobart Armstrong to a harmless single in three trips, but they couldn't cope with Charlie Williams and Ray Reilly.

Williams set a seasonal record with a trio of doubles, while Reilly slammed a double and two singles. George Uhl delivered two singles.

Glenn Newell Clicks
Glenn Newell, the polished southpaw ace of the Dodgers, turned in a remarkable pitching stint in support of starter Tom Mayone who left the game during a three-run Giant rally in the fourth. Newell struck out seven of the eight batters who faced him. He was nicked for a single by Dave O'Connor.

A couple of five-run innings in the third and fourth frames put the game on ice for the Dodgers who were picking up their third victory in five starts.

The Giants made it 11-5 in the fourth but while Newell was discouraging further scoring ambitions, the Dodgers finished their day's work with a single marker in the fifth and in the sixth, George Norton pounded two singles for the Giants and continued his spectacular defensive play in left field. Lee Kias poled a single and double and Dave O'Connor had two singles for the losers.

Snead-Ferrier Lead Inverness
Toledo, O., June 28 (AP)—Two tourney-tested champions showed the way today as the third round opened in the Inverness Invitational $18,000 best-ball golf classic.

Out front, with a plus five rating after winning two matches, were Slammin' Sam Snead, and Australian-born Jim Ferrier, a couple of former PGA titleholders.

On their heels, at plus three, were former National Open champions Lloy Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff, who climbed into the runner-up spot yesterday with a par-shattering 61, ten under the card for Inverness' 6,545 sun-baked yards.

The 61 gave Mangrum-Middlecoff a four-up win over Jim Demaret and Jack Burke, Jr., a pair of Texans who have run into the day's hottest round twice, and today face Snead-Ferrier.

New Orleans—Nat Jackson, 133½, New Orleans, stopped Glenn Bruce, 140, New Orleans, 4.

He said the secretary emphasized that Britain had no absolute right to be consulted or informed in advance of the bombings of the plants across the Yalu river from Manchuria.

Dodgers Trounce Giants, 14-5 For Third Little League Win

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Satchel Paige gained fame with his "hesitation" pitch. Now it's Con Marrero of the Washington Senators with his "manana" pitch.

When Marrero delivers it appears that the ball will reach the plate manana or even the day after tomorrow. But when the ball does arrive it does funny things, shooting down, up or away from the astonished batter.

Ed Yost, with a home run and Pete Runnels with a pair of triples, led the Washington attack. Billy Goodman homered for Boston. The victory was Marrero's seventh compared to two defeats.

Lopat Blanks A's
Ed Lopat, another "junk ball" pitcher, pitched the New York Yankees to a 10-0 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. Lopat blanked the A's on four singles in eight innings.

The Cleveland Indians dropped from third into a fourth place tie with the Chicago White Sox. Chicago turned back the Indians, 5-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Billy Pierce. Pierce fanned ten and walked only two in besting Bob Feller.

Simmons Blanks Giants
The Brooklyn Dodgers pulled four games in front of the New York Giants in the National League race, trouncing the Boston Braves, 8-3, while the Giants dropped a 6-0 decision to Curt Simmons and the Philadelphia Phils.

Brooklyn spotted Boston a 3-0 lead in the first inning on a three-run homer by Walker Cooper. Brooklyn came back with four in its half and clinched the decision with three more in the third. Ralph Branca took over in the second for Brooklyn and pitched two-hit ball the rest of the way.

Simmons blanked the Giants on three hits while the Phils combed Larry Jansen and Monte Kennedy for 11 safeties. The Phils tagged Jansen, who had beaten them eight straight times, for five runs in the first two innings.

Lanky Paul Minner also turned in a 6-0 shutout for Chicago, stopping the Cincinnati Reds on six singles. The Reds pulled the season's second triple play in the sixth inning. Bruce Edwards lined to shortstop Roy McMillan with runners on first and second. McMillan stepped on second to double Bill Serena and threw to first to nail Hank Sauer.

Enos Slaughter batted in five runs on four singles to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-4 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Sawyer Bounced As Phils' Pilot
Philadelphia, June 28 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, floundering in the National League's second division, changed managers in mid-season today with veteran Steve O'Neill replacing one-time college professor Eddie Sawyer "for the good of the club."

Owner Bob Carpenter announced the shift last night at a hastily called meeting of sports writers in the Shibe Park clubhouse following the Phillies 6 to 0 win over the New York Giants.

O'Neill, former pilot of the Detroit Tigers, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox, was informed of Carpenter's decision by way of a telephone call to Louisville, where O'Neill was on a scouting assignment for the Red Sox. He left immediately for Carpenter's home in Wilmington, Del., to catch a few hours sleep before inking his new contract at Philadelphia later today.

O'Neill will be running the club when the Phillies meet New York tonight.

Williams and Reilly Lead Batting Attack

It doesn't happen like that in the National League but that's the Little League they're playing at the 156th Field Artillery diamond on Manor avenue.

In a manner that will cause Sal Maglie and Leo Durocher great concern if they hear about it, the Giants took a 14-5 shellacking from guess who in yesterday's Little League battle. Yep, the Dodgers.

The Giant pitchers—Timmy Fisher and John Melchior—held mighty Hobart Armstrong to a harmless single in three trips, but they couldn't cope with Charlie Williams and Ray Reilly.

Williams set a seasonal record with a trio of doubles, while Reilly slammed a double and two singles. George Uhl delivered two singles.

Newell Clicks
Glenn Newell, the polished southpaw ace of the Dodgers, turned in a remarkable pitching stint in support of starter Tom Mayone who left the game during a three-run Giant rally in the fourth. Newell struck out seven of the eight batters who faced him. He was nicked for a single by Dave O'Connor.

A couple of five-run innings in the third and fourth frames put the game on ice for the Dodgers who were picking up their third victory in five starts.

The Giants made it 11-5 in the fourth but while Newell was discouraging further scoring ambitions, the Dodgers finished their day's work with a single marker in the fifth and a pair in the sixth.

George Norton pounded two singles for the Giants and continued his spectacular defensive play in left field. Lee Kias poled a single and double and Dave O'Connor had two singles for the losers.

Snead-Ferrier Lead Inverness
Toledo, O., June 28 (AP)—Two tourney-tested champions showed the way today as the third round opened in the Inverness Invitational $18,000 best-ball golf classic.

Out front, with a plus five rating after winning two matches, were Slammin' Sam Snead, the West Virginia hot-shot, and Australian-born Jim Ferrier, a couple of former PGA titleholders.

On their heels, at plus three, were former National Open champions Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff, who climbed into the runner-up spot yesterday with a par-battering 61, ten under the card for Inverness' 6,545 sunbaked yards.

The 61 gave Mangrum-Middlecoff a four-up win over Jim Demaret and Jack Burke, Jr., a pair of Texans who have run into the day's hottest round twice, and today face Snead-Ferrier.

New Orleans—Nat Jackson, 133½, New Orleans, stopped Glenn Bruce, 140, New Orleans, 4.

New York, June 28 (AP)—A 300-page manual of New York state's new building code was issued today by the State Building Code Commission. The code has been adopted by several communities as a means of cutting construction costs and opening the door for new building materials.

The manual contains more than 100 drawings, interpreting the new code and showing what materials and methods meet its requirements.

When the new code was drawn up, it was hailed widely because it set forth merely the strengths and other factors required for

Banning Red Movies

Washington, June 28 (AP)—The counsel to the New York State Education Department today advocated state laws to ban films teaching communism.

Ice Appeal

Their dad in Cleveland brought home this chunk of ice to make ice cream during the record-breaking heat wave. Marsha Wilson, 3, sat down on it and remarked, "Thanks, daddy, for the big ice cube." Her sister, Beth, 1½, started trying to eat it. They objected when the chunk was chopped to fit the freezer, but like the ice cream.

Price Index Slips

Washington, June 28 (AP)—The gentle downward slide of the government's wholesale price index continued during the week which ended June 24. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a drop of four-tenths of one per cent to 110.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. There have been declines in four of the past five weeks reported. Livestock, grains and some meats led the downward slide followed by fats and oils, zinc and animal feed. Price advances were reported for some fresh produce, lead, hides and some textile products.

Helen Keller Is Visitor at Israel Village for Blind

Israel's Village for the Blind is still talking about a recent visit of Helen Keller "not as a guest, but as a sister." It proved a rare treat for the 420 villagers to receive among them a woman, who, being blind and deaf, was even more handicapped than they, and yet had managed to win world acclaim.

Under the guidance of Dr. Hagel and his seeing-eye dog, a black Alsatian named Prince, Miss Keller and her companion, Miss Polly Thompson, were "shown" around the village. The seeing children of the blind sang a Hebrew Pentecost song for Miss Keller as she visited the village kindergarten. They were thrilled with astonishment and admiration as she put her right hand on the throat of a child to feel the rhythm and beat the time with her left hand. As she walked among the blind men and women she stopped to examine the various articles made by the villagers in their workshops which include brooms, brushes, mattresses, baskets, stools, wicker chairs, carpet beaters, doormats and woven raffia material for automobile seat-covers and handbags. She expressed particular pleasure when informed that the proceeds of this work made the villagers self-supporting. Most of these articles are sold on the open market.

She had some reservations, however, declaring frankly that she did not like the name Village for the Blind because it tended to separate the blind from the others. She beamed when told by Dr. Hagel, formerly a lawyer in Poland, who lost his sight fighting the Nazis in World War 2, that the name had been changed to Kfar Uriel, meaning Light of God. But she insisted that she thought it better that the blind live together with the seeing. Nevertheless, on leaving, Miss Keller said, "I have a very pleasant memory of this village—a village of work and happy families. This is a village of self-supporting citizens contributing their work to society. . . . In time per-

None Are Injured
Nobody was reported injured in a two-car collision on Route 9W at Esopus about 8 p. m. Friday. State police said automobiles driven by Edward E. Nichols, 37, of Poughkeepsie, and L. A. Fiala, 24, of Cresskill, N. J., ran together in a line of northbound traffic. Fiala, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Francis Palen on a charge of driving without a license, was released on $10 bail for appearance Monday evening after he said he had a license but had left it at home, according to the report.

Killed in Crash
Southfields, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—A panel truck went out of control on Route 17 near here last night and overturned on the driver, killing him. Two other persons were injured. State police identified the dead man as Meyer Wexler, 20, of Brooklyn, manager of the Queensbrook News Co., Inc. Police said the vehicle hit a guard rail after going out of control, tossed out the driver and then crashed on top of him.

Says Car Was Struck
A 1951 sedan, owned by Carmela Muccio of Groat street, parked at the curb in front of 377 Washington avenue, was struck by a hit-and-run car at 10:25 p. m. Friday police reported today. Slate Atom Tests
Las Vegas, Nev., June 28 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission last night announced tests involving high explosives, but no atomic bombs, beginning Monday. The tests at the Nevada proving grounds will be similar to high explosive experiments made last fall, the AEC said. Personnel of the Sandia Laboratory, Albuquerque, N. M., and a small number of armed forces troops will participate.

Twin Didn't Show

New York, June 28 (AP)—The confusing case of the robber twin ended yesterday when a second Kings county jury found Anthony Chirieleison, 25, guilty of holding up a travel agency last fall. Last February Anthony appeared in court with his twin brother, John. They were dressed alike, both wore glasses and had moustaches. An agency clerk-victim was bewildered. The case was declared a mistrial. Yesterday, however, twin brother John failed to show up in court. A second jury deliberated two hours before pronouncing Anthony guilty of the $700 robbery. He faces 15 to 60 years as a second offender.

Ice Appeal

Their dad in Cleveland brought home this chunk of ice to make ice cream during the record-breaking heat wave. Marsha Wilson, 3, sat down on it and remarked, "Thanks, daddy, for the big ice cube." Her sister, Beth, 1½, started trying to eat it. They objected when the chunk was chopped to fit the freezer, but like the ice cream.

Price Index Slips

Washington, June 28 (AP)—The gentle downward slide of the government's wholesale price index continued during the week which ended June 24. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a drop of four-tenths of one per cent to 110.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. There have been declines in four of the past five weeks reported. Livestock, grains and some meats led on the down slide followed by fats and oils, zinc and animal feed. Price advances were reported for some fresh produce, lead, hides and some textile products.

Seven Die in Crash

Pasadena, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Seven air force men were killed when their twin-engine C-47 plowed into a Bliss Mountain peak near here and burned. None survived. Wreckage of the plane was found yesterday and climaxed a search which started Wednesday night when the plane was last heard from after it took off from Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino, Calif., bound for Van Nuys, 35-minute hop.

Helen Keller Is Visitor at Israel Village for Blind

Israel's Village for the Blind is still talking about a recent visit of Helen Keller "not as a guest, but as a sister." It proved a rare treat for the 420 villagers to receive among them a woman, who, being blind and deaf, was even more handicapped than they, and yet had managed to win world acclaim.

Under the guidance of Dr. Hagel and his seeing-eye dog, a black Alsatian named Prince, Miss Keller and her companion, Miss Polly Thompson, were "shown" around the village. The seeing children of the blind sang a Hebrew Pentecost song for Miss Keller as she visited the village kindergarten. They were thrilled with astonishment and admiration as she put her right hand on the throat of a child to feel the rhythm and beat the time with her left hand. As she walked among the blind men and women she stopped to examine the various articles made by the villagers in their workshops which include brooms, brushes, mattresses, baskets, stools, wicker chairs, carpet beaters, doormats and woven raffia material for automobile seat-covers and handbags. She expressed particular pleasure when informed that the proceeds of this work made the villagers self-supporting. Most of these articles are sold on the open market.

She had some reservations, however, declaring frankly that she did not like the name Village for the Blind because it tended to separate the blind from the others. She beamed when told by Dr. Hagel, formerly a lawyer in Poland, who lost his sight fighting the Nazis in World War 2, that the name had been changed to Kfar Uriel, meaning Light of God. But she insisted that she thought it better that the blind live together with the seeing. Nevertheless, on leaving, Miss Keller said, "I have a very pleasant memory of this village—of work and happy families. This is a village of self-supporting citizens contributing their work to society. . . . In time per-

Ingrid Coming to U. S.

Los Angeles, June 28 (AP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman is coming to the United States late in July or early in August to spend six weeks with her daughter, Pia, 13, object of a custody dispute. Miss Bergman's attorney, Gregory B. Bantz, said yesterday that the actress telephoned him from Rome and told her plans. Bantz said Miss Bergman did not say whether her husband, Roberto Rossellini, Italian director, and their three children, including newborn twin daughters, would accompany her. Miss Bergman unsuccessfully attempted to obtain court permission this week for Pia to visit her in home.

None Are Injured

Nobody was reported injured in a two-car collision on Route 9W at Esopus about 8 p. m. Friday. State police said automobiles driven by Edward E. Nichols, 37, of Poughkeepsie, and L. A. Fiala, 24, of Creskill, N. J., ran together in a line of northbound traffic. Fiala, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Francis Palen on a charge of driving without a license, was released on $10 bail for appearance Monday evening after he said he had a license but had left it at home, according to the report.

Killed in Crash

Southfields, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—A panel truck went out of control on Route 17 near here last night and overturned on the driver, killing him. Two other persons were injured. State police identified the driver as George Dougherty, 20, of Brookline, manager of the Queensbrook News Co., Inc. Police said the vehicle hit a guard rail after going out of control, tossed out the driver and then crashed on top of him.

Says Car Was Struck

A 1951 sedan, owned by Carmela Muccio of Groff street, parked at the curb in front of 377 Washington avenue, was struck by a hit-and-run car at 10:25 p. m. Friday police reported today. Officers George Dougherty and Frank Loeffler, who investigated, said that the left rear fender and tail light were damaged. Robert Bradley of 373 Washington avenue was a witness.

Slate Atom Tests

Las Vegas, Nev., June 28 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission last night announced tests involving high explosives, but no atomic bombs, beginning Monday. The tests at the Nevada proving grounds will be similar to high explosive experiments made last fall, the AEC said. Personnel of the Sandia Laboratory, Albuquerque, N. M., and a small number of armed forces troops will participate.

happ they can go out and work with others.

Following Miss Keller's departure, the secretary of the Blind Worker's Committee, Nissem Modama, agreed that it would be better if Miss Keller's suggestion could be adopted. "But the practical point," he said, "is that we are all together, it is easier for us to get the kind of help and instruction that will make us self-supporting. You could not find places to work scattered all over the country that would bother to teach and employ a blind man. Furthermore, here we all suffer from the same trouble, so we are all equal. We do not speak about it. We forget it."

Twin Didn't Show

New York, June 28 (AP)—The confusing case of the robber twin ended yesterday when a second Kings county jury found Anthony Chirieleison, 25, guilty of holding up a travel agency last fall. Last February Anthony appeared in court with his twin brother, John. They were dressed alike, both wore glasses and had mustaches. An agency clerk-victim was bewildered. The case was declared a mistrial. Yesterday, however, twin brother John failed to show up in court. A second jury deliberated two hours before pronouncing Anthony guilty of the $700 robbery. He faces 15 to 60 years as a second offender.

Hunt Brooklyn Sniper

New York, June 28 (AP)—The belief that a young rabbinical student may have been killed by a sniper has sent about 25 detectives on a house-to-house hunt for 22-caliber rifles and pistols in a section of Brooklyn. Police said there was a possibility that a mad sniper or a careless target-shooting youth may have fired the single shot that killed 23-year-old Samuel B. London. London was found early yesterday in McCarren Park in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn. A bullet had been fired into the back of his head.

New Immigration Law
Washington, June 28 (AP)—The nation today has its first new immigration law since 1798. Congress approved the law over the veto of President Truman. It becomes effective in six months. Immigration officials said it is so complicated — completely overhauling the immigration and naturalization laws — it may take them even longer than that to put it into full operation. It was a sharp rebuff for the President — the first overriding of a veto on major legislation since 1947 when Congress put the Taft-Hartley law on the statute books over his protests. Truman said the new immigration law is unworthy of the nation's ideals. He contended it would sap U. S. leadership for peace.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

'Church Mouse' Is Entertaining In Opening Show

Woodstock, June 28—It's light summer fare, the opening offering of the Woodstock Playhouse, but as thoroughly palatable as the wonderful food Susie Sachs, A Church Mouse, yearned for in the Vienna delicatessen window.

The play is a trifle slow in getting started until the entrance of Susie who wanted a job, a beautiful goose with stuffing, and, above all, love. Ladislaus Fodor's subtly seasoned comedy can boast neither plot nor a shocking line, but is almost totally dependent upon the nebulous ability of a "squeaking, mouse-like" girl to win the love and admiration of a couple of barons, a count and the audience as well. Marion Russell, as Susie, possesses exactly the required amount of breathless, inexplicable, amount of necessary to the transformation of the machine-like secretary in a captivating and convincing woman.

Beautiful and charming women vied for the attentions of Baron Thomas Von Ulrich whose banking establishment managed to run despite secretaries who were more interested in displaying their own figures rather than recording correct ones. With an "interesting amount of gray at his temples" Martin Ashe is a suavey distracted Baron Thomas, the object of the affections of Olly Frey, who is more efficient at understanding than her typewriter.

Phyllis Hill, as Olly, the glittering and alluring threat to Susie's plans, goes about her real business of enticing one baron or the other in a thoroughly engaging manner. Special mention might certainly be made of a high point in the play in the scene with Susie and Olly, when Olly generously gives away her own perfect hands, it might not have come off, but with Miss Russell and Miss Hill it was a rare moment.

Margaret Donough's setting in the Paris Hotel provided a starlit threshold to the ancient awakening for an evening of gaiety.

Once the business purpose of the banker Baron and his staff is successfully completed in the trip to Paris and a celebration is in order, Susie in an ice-blue gown setting out to see Paris is everything her escorts could desire. She makes the gallant and debonaire old Count Von Talheim, played with nostalgic dignity by Harry Mehaffey, young again, and the young Baron Frank Von Ulrich a mature cavalier. Robert Baines as the younger brother baron and the elderly count between them reflect the general feeling Susie inspires. Whether it was the champagne, Paris at night, the carriage ride in the park, but before the evening is over everyone falls in love with her. Only the Baron Thomas Von Ulrich stayed in the outer sphere of her spell.

Perhaps the real appeal in the play lies in the great desire of all who see it to want Susie to have everything she desires. Somehow facts and figures must go on as exemplified by Donald Keyes as Jackson, who had it all written down on his starched white cuffs, and Jules Villon as Chapple who keeps the wheels of the organization spinning. But even Jackson in a very funny scene had his night out and was happier for it. In the midst of the difficult tensions of today, this week's show at the Playhouse, ably directed by Robert H. Harris, is a squeaking little church mouse of a pause, an evening of gentle laughter and proof that a determined little lady with love in her heart can make the world a little more star-flecked for everyone around her.

The play will continue through Sunday, July 6.

that the alignment may be 12 for the Ohioan, three for Eisenhower and eight uncommitted. The tally in each case was 11-10, possibly indicating an even closer division between the senator and General Eisenhower among the members.

Wimbledon, England, June 28 (AP)—Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., oft-time winner of tennis laurels here, and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, gained the quarter-final round of women's singles competition today. Miss Brough won 1-6, 6-1, 6-2. Officials and reporters could not recall when Miss Brough looked as poorly as she did in the first set. Miss Fry won 6-4, 6-0.

Slap for Congressmen

Washington, June 28 (AP)—A proposal to grant congressmen tax exemptions on their living expenses in Washington bounced back to the House today with a resounding "no" from the Senate. The House—which had approved the plan—can accept the Senate's 67-to-2 rejection or try for a compromise in the rush toward adjournment.

Baltimore, June 28 (AP)—From now on the birds in the Baltimore Zoo will have to sing for their supper without accompaniment. A local firm has been piping recorded music into the bird house for the past month on a trial basis. Now that the trial period is up, the firm wants $60 a month, but the park board decided it couldn't afford it.

Pentagon Is Silent

There was no comment from the Pentagon on any of these subjects. Major speculation centered around the H-bomb. There has been unofficial talk the first one might be tried out this fall in Eniwetok tests.

Despite the report by top air force and Pentagon leaders that World War 3 may be brief but terrible, due to Russian atomic and air progress, the House refused to go along with President Truman's request for $3,191,000,000 in new atomic funds.

It voted instead $1,485,000,000 to begin a large-scale expansion of atomic energy facilities.

The House also rebuffed the AEC and the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee by refusing to grant the AEC authority to go ahead with expansion projects not covered by available funds.

Both votes are subject to reconsideration later.

bow to President Syngman Rhee's demands or dissolve itself.

The police—under the direct command of the home minister—formed double ranks to hold back the jeering crowd and permit the negotiators to leave. One member was a woman.

Home Minister Lee Bum Suk, Rhee's toughest supporter in the cabinet, twice urged the pro-Rhee crowd to calm down. Then he ordered his police into action.

The crowd of shouting men and women had blocked all exits from the building. Foreign observers and both foreign and Korean newsmen were permitted to enter and leave the hall during the incident.

Assemblymen who tried to leave were thrown back bodily.

when considering a new roof or siding job . . .

Ask Yourself These Questions:

If you are approached by an itinerant applicator offering a "bargain" on a new roof for your home, or siding job, ask yourself these important questions:

1. DO I KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THE SALESMAN OR HIS COMPANY?

2. HAVE I ASKED THE SALESMAN OR HIS COMPANY FOR REFERENCES?

3. HAVE I REASON TO BELIEVE THAT THE COMPANY WILL BE IN EXISTENCE AND FINANCIALLY ABLE TO FULFILL ITS GUARANTEES FIVE OR TEN YEARS FROM NOW?

4. HAVE I OBTAINED A PRICE ON THIS JOB ON EXACTLY THE SAME SPECIFICATIONS FROM MY LOCAL DEALER?

5. DOES THE COMPANY PROVIDE LIABILITY AND COMPENSATION INSURANCE TO PROTECT ME IN CASE OF ACCIDENT?

6. DO I KNOW THE BRAND GRADE OR QUALITY OF MATERIAL I am getting?

7. IN THE EVENT I PAY FOR THE JOB ON AN INSTALLMENT BASIS, do I know what finance company will have my note?

IF THE ANSWER TO ANY OF THESE QUESTIONS IS "NO" — BE CAREFUL!

New Immigration Law
Washington, June 28 (AP)—The nation today has its first new immigration law since 1798. Congress approved it yesterday over the veto of President Truman. It becomes effective in six months. Immigration officials said it is so complicated — completely overhauling the immigration and naturalization laws — it may take them even longer than that to put it into full operation. It was a sharp rebuff for the President — the first overriding of a veto on major legislation since 1947 when Congress put the Taft-Hartley law on the statute books over his protests. Truman said the new immigration law is unworthy of the nation's ideals. He contended it would sap U. S. leadership for peace.

'Church Mouse' Is Entertaining In Opening Show

Woodstock, June 28—It's light summer fare, the opening offering of the Woodstock Playhouse, but as thoroughly palatable as the wonderful food Susie Sachs, A Church Mouse, yearned for in the Vienna delicatessen window.

The play is a trifle slow in getting started until the entrance of Susie who wanted a job, a beautiful goose with stuffing, and, above all, love.

Ladislav Fodor's subtly seared comedy can boast neither plot nor a shocking line, but is almost totally dependent upon the nebulous ability of a "squeaking, mouse-like" girl to win the love and admiration of a couple of barons, a count and the audience as well. Marion Russell, as Susie, possesses exactly the required amount of breathless, inexplicable appeal necessary to the transformation of the machine-like secretary in a captivating and convincing woman.

Beautiful and charming women vied for the attentions of Baron Thomas Von Ulrich whose banking establishment managed to lose its top secretaries who were more interested in displaying their own figures rather than recording correct ones. With an "interesting amount of grey at his temples" Martin Ashe is a suavely distracted Baron Thomas, the object of the affections of Olly Frey, who is more efficient at understanding men than her typewriter.

Phyllis Hill, as Olly, the glittering and alluring threat to Susie's plans, goes about her real business of enticing one baron or the other in a thoroughly engaging manner. Special mention might certainly be made of a high point in the play in the scene with Susie and Olly, when Olly generously gives away her own perfected technique. In less competent hands, it might not have come off, but with Miss Russell and Miss Hill it was a rare moment.

Margaret Donoghue's setting in the Paris Hotel provided a startling threshold to the ancient evening for an evening of gaiety. Once the business purpose of the banker Baron and his staff is successfully completed in the trip to Paris and a celebration is in order, Susie in an ice-blue gown setting out to see Paris is everything her character could desire. She makes the gallant and debonaire old Count Von Tal-

Pentagon Is Silent

There was no comment from the Pentagon on any of these subjects.

Major speculation centered around the H-bomb. There has been unofficial talk the first one might be tried out this fall in Eniwetok tests.

Despite the report by top air force and Pentagon leaders that the World War 3 may be brief but terrible, due to Russian atomic and air progress, the House refused to go along with President Truman's request for $3,191,000,000 in new atomic funds.

It voted instead $1,485,000,000 to begin a large-scale expansion of atomic energy facilities.

The House also rebuffed the AEC and the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee by refusing to grant the AEC authority to go ahead with expansion projects not covered by available funds.

Both votes are subject to reconsideration later.

Truce Negotiators

bow to President Syngman Rhee's demands or dissolve itself.

The police—under the direct command of the home minister—formed double ranks to hold back the jeering crowd and permit the legislators to leave. One member was a woman.

Home Minister Lee Bum Suk, Rhee's toughest supporter in the cabinet, twice urged the pro-Rhee crowd to calm down. Then he ordered his police into action.

The crowd of shouting men and women had blocked all exits from the building. Foreign observers and both foreign and Korean newsmen were permitted to enter and leave the hall during the incident.

Assemblymen who tried to leave were thrown back bodily.

Collision Is Reported

An automobile driven by Carl W. Fitchner, 21, of Shandaken was in collision with one driven by Mrs. Florence Eisenstein of New York about 6:15 p. m. Friday on Route 28 two miles east of Poughkeepsie, state police reported. No personal injuries were listed on the report and no arrest was made.

Now what else should we do to get ready?

The first thing, is to start your trip with a peaceful mind.

Put the cat out. Stop the newspaper and milk, so burglars won't know you're away. Notify the police that you're going.

And among other things, check your insurance to make sure your house is safeguarded against losses by fire, theft, storm, etc. And to be sure you have insurance to cover accidents on your trip, and loss of baggage, cameras, golf clubs, etc.

Let us check with you to make sure you're covered all 'round.
